

Privacy Policy

How we respect privacy when we deal with personal information collected by our organisation.

This Privacy Policy applies to information we INBAM collect about individuals who interact with our organisation. It explains what personal information we collect and how we use it. If you have any comments or questions about this notice, feel free to contact us at admin@inbam-editors.org

1. Personal data that we process

The following table explains the types of data we collect and the legal basis, under current data protection legislation, on which this data is processed.

Purpose	Data (key elements)	Basis
Enquiring about our organisation and its work	Name, email, message	Legitimate interests - it is necessary for us to read and store your message so that we can respond in the way that you would expect.
Signing up as a member	Name, email, landline telephone number, mobile telephone number, bank details, whether the membership fee has been paid, name of journal edited, employing organisation (if applicable)	Contract - by paying your membership fees you have entered into a contractual relationship with INBAM as set out in our Constitution, clause 9 (membership of the CIO).
Members' gift aid declarations (UK members only)	Title, name, home address, date gift aid form completed	Legitimate interests - this information is necessary for us to reclaim from HMRC gift aid from the tax you pay in a given tax year.
Subscribing to email updates about our work	Name, email	Consent - you have given your active consent.
Registering as a workshop or conference delegate	Name, email, landline telephone number, mobile telephone number, employing organisation (if applicable), bank details (if applicable, e.g. for the refund of delegate workshop or conference fees), dietary requirements	Consent - you have given your active consent by registering as a workshop or conference delegate.
Making a donation	Name, email, address, payment information	Legitimate interests - this information is necessary for us to fulfil your intention of donating money and your expectation of receiving a confirmation message.
Website functionality	Website activity collected through cookies	Legitimate interests - it is necessary for us to store a small amount of information, usually through cookies, to deliver functionality that you would expect, such as remembering the contents of your order before you have fully completed the process.

2. How we use your data

We will only use your data in a manner that is appropriate considering the basis on which that data was collected, as set out in the table above. For example, we may use your personal information to: reply to enquiries you send to us; handle donations or other transactions that you initiate; where you have specifically agreed to this, send you marketing communications by email or letter relating to our work which we think may be of interest to you.

3. When we share your data

We will only pass your data to third parties in the following circumstances: you have provided your explicit consent for us to pass data to a named third party (e.g. a bank); we are using a third party purely for the purposes of processing data on our behalf and we have in place a data processing agreement with that third party that fulfils our legal obligations in relation to the use of third party data processors; or we are required by law to share your data. In addition, we will only pass data to third parties outside of the EU where appropriate safeguards are in place as defined by Article 46 of the General Data Protection Regulation.

4. How long we keep your data

We take the principles of data minimisation and removal seriously and will ensure that we only ever ask for the minimum amount of data for the associated purpose and delete that data promptly once it is no longer required. All data concerning INBAM members and workshop or conference delegates is kept as secure as possible. Where data is collected on the basis of consent, we will seek renewal of consent at least every three years.

5. Rights you have over your data

You have a range of rights over your data, which include the following:

- Where data processing is based on consent, you may revoke this consent at any time and we will make it as easy as possible for you to do this (for example by putting 'unsubscribe' links at the bottom of all our marketing emails).
- You have the right to ask for rectification and/or deletion of your information.
- You have the right of access to your information.
- You have the right to lodge a complaint with the Information Commissioner if you feel your rights have been infringed.

A full summary of your legal rights over your data can be found on the Information Commissioner's website here: <https://ico.org.uk/>

If you would like to access the rights listed above, or any other legal rights you have over your data under current legislation, please contact us at admin@inbam-editors.org

Please note that relying on some of these rights, such as the right to deleting your data, will make it impossible for us to continue to deliver some services to you. However, where possible we will always try to allow the maximum access to your rights while continuing to deliver as many services to you as possible.

6. Cookies & usage tracking

A cookie is a small file of letters and numbers that is downloaded on to your computer when you visit a website. Cookies are used by many websites and can do a number of things, e.g. remembering your preferences and counting the number of people looking at a website. Where cookies are used to collect personal data, we list these purposes in section 1 above, along with other personal data that we collect. However, we also use some cookies that do not collect personal information but that do help us collect anonymous information about how people use our website. We use our web hosts 1and1 for this purpose. The data is collected anonymously, stored by 1and1 and used to create reports about website usage. 1and1's privacy policy is available at <https://www.1and1.co.uk/terms-gtc/termsprivacy/?linkId=nav.foot.account.privacy>

7. Modifications

We may modify this Privacy Policy from time to time and will publish the most current version on our website. If a modification meaningfully reduces your rights, we'll notify people whose personal data we hold and is affected.

If you require a large print version of this privacy policy, please email admin@inbam-editors.org and we will be pleased to send it to you.
